“ *One of my favorite motorcycle riding days was with Aaron. I hadn't seen him in a while and we met up and caught up at lunch and rode bikes most of the day. I still remember it like it was yesterday and the convo we had. One thing I will always remember about him is when we would see each other after a long while and he'd have the biggest smile and give me the biggest hug. We would unfortunately go months without talking
And when we would link up it was like we never lost touch with one another. Truly a heart of gold he had. I will miss him dearly 🥹*
