“ Cheryl was a loving mother, grand mother and wife. After her husband Carl William Northrip Sr. and her had raising her children, Carl William Northrip II, Martha Ella Northrip and Teresa Lynn Northrip they thought it was time for the two of them to settle in and do for each other what they had done for over 20 years, but that was not going to be so for her and Carl, when they got a knock on the door in September, 2004 by a Middletown Police Officer. He said their daughter Teresa Lynn Northrip had been killed by a crazed 16 year old kid in Redding, California. Being the strong and loving parents that they were, it meant going to California and bringing Terri's two sons ack to New York and raising another generation of in their home. This was the way Cheryl was. Family, always first and foremost, so off we went raising another Generation for another 16 years. This was Cheryl Northrip's way, strong unwavering and committed to the family and her savior.
