“ I was so very sorry to see that this beautiful young woman had died. She fought hard for so long but the disease was stronger. But many years ago, in the embrace of her loving parents, she was baptized; baptized into a promise that God would never leave her and that she was always loved, even when she couldn't love herself. Colleen is now caught up in the Divine, and finally at peace. I pray peace for her children, and her brothers and sister and brother. May God wrap you all and hold you all in love.
